Enable Support

Only use Enable Support when you are communicating with a QuickBooks for the Web Service Consultant. It allows the Service Consultant temporary access to your company data so they can help you.

Is it safe?

- You control access. You or another user of your company are the only people who can grant access to your company's data.
- Access is temporary. When a Service Consultant logs out of your company, they can't get back in.
- You can remove access, any time. You can disable access to your data at any point, even when the Service Consultant is logged in.

The QuickBooks for the Web team is committed to providing the best service possible. We've designed Help to answer your most common questions. When that's not enough, we have a team of Service Consultants ready to assist you. If our service isn't up to your expectations, please let us know. We want to learn from you how to be better.
